Principal's News

Dear Parents, Carers, and Friends of Ipswich Special School

The term is well and truly underway with another couple of weeks flying by since the last newsletter. Although we are in a Covidsafe world many activities have resumed and are in fact flourishing.

We have reopened the Thrift Shop on Thursdays with the senior school students gaining great work experience in retail, providing positive customer service, stocktaking and working with money.

The Lunch Stop is teaching students about hygiene, staying on task, presentation and customer satisfaction.

Computer recycling is teaching our students safety in the workplace, following through with direction, understanding a complex task and most importantly working as a team.

On another note, it is the time in the semester when parent consultation about students Individual Curriculum Plans are being scheduled, and written up.

This semester following best advice, we will be holding teleconferences with parents and carers. I'm sure you will be gaining the same information and understanding of your child's progress and goals for the rest of this year as in person, though we also miss the face to face meetings that hopefully will reoccur when our restrictions are fully lifted.

Two parent activities that have been given permission to occur on site are P and C meetings and MyTime parent group. Both of these activities take place in our Community Room which allows parents and carers to be at school but still following our Covidsafe expectations. You will see both being advertised beforehand so please come along. All welcome!

As always please drop me a line or give me a call if you would like to discuss your child's programme.

Best regards

Rob

Chat

Hi everyone,

This past week we have seen that COVID-19 has reared its ugly head again, which can cause an increased sense of worry and anxiety. Not only for our children, but also ourselves. It is important for people, both young and old, to have an opportunity to express and talk about any fears that they may be having. Whilst not specific to Corona Virus, these books might help as a conversation starter with your child who may be feeling concerned about what is happening in Australia currently:

Have a good week,

Chappy Lucinda

Get involved in the Premier's Reading Challenge 2020

The Premier's Reading Challenge 2020 has begun. We want as many students as possible (from Prep to Year 9) to complete the challenge by reading or experiencing the allocated number of books by 28 August 2020.

Check out the PRC website or visit the How to register page for more information and let's get reading!
